

You don't have to coax big and little folks to eat Kellogg's Corn Flakes

Just as soon as you serve Kellogg's you'll note fussy and faded appetites getting mighty sharp; you'll find big bowls being handed back for "just a few more Kellogg's, mother—they're wonderful!"

And, that'll make you glad, for Kellogg's Corn Flakes are a great speed-start for the day's doings! They make for health and happy digestions! Kellogg's are never leathery or tough, but always joyously crisp!

Kellogg's—the original Corn Flakes—will be a revelation to your taste if you have been eating imitations! For your own enjoyment, do this—compare the big, sunny-brown Kellogg's Corn Flakes with other "corn flakes." Eat some of Kellogg's—then try the imitations! You'll realize then why Kellogg's Corn Flakes are the largest and fastest selling cereal in the whole world!

Do more than ask for "corn flakes." Insist upon KELLOGG'S Corn Flakes in the RED and GREEN package! My, but it's worth while!

HOME DEMONSTRATION NOTES

Poultry Specialist Gives Interesting Talks in Several Communities.

Feeding, housing, and incubation, were among the subjects discussed by Mr. H. L. Shrader, Poultry Specialist, from the Extension Service, during two days and a half work with the Home Demonstration Agent and County Agent.

The meetings were very well attended in spite of the rainy weather. At Doe Run, Monday morning, there was an attendance of 39. At Knob Lick in the afternoon, nearly twenty people got out in spite of a hard rain. Ten Bismarck people came out to discuss poultry problems, and twenty at Libertyville. At all of these meetings, general poultry problems were discussed and many questions were asked. Feeding and housing problems were discussed more than other phases of poultry work, although the importance of standard-bred flocks was stressed a good deal.

Tuesday afternoon, thirty men and women of the Oak-Grove community were given the characteristics of various breeds of birds, both from the production and the show standpoints. Birds of the Rhode Island Red, Barred Rock, White Leghorn, and White Wyandotte breeds were handled and their good and bad points were discussed.

Wednesday morning, at the Farm Bureau office, the demonstration flock and certified breeding co-operators met for a discussion of their own particular problems. The four certified breeding co-operators are: Mrs. J. C. Ballard, Mrs. T. B. Chandler, J. W. Forshee and Mrs. Roy Johnson. All four of these people were present. Mrs. I. T. Sides, Mrs. T. E. Gideon and Mrs. E. W. Burgess were the demonstration flock co-operators who came to the meeting. Mr. Shrader explained to these people how their influence in their community might help to build up the poultry industry in the county. Besides this, a talk was given on reports, and methods of carrying on the work. A general discussion followed.

Interest Shown in Dress Forms.

With the coming spring, the demand for dress forms is increasing. Every few days the Home Demonstration Agent receives calls, asking for in-

In practically every community in the county, at least two or three women know how to make paper dress forms and they can help their friends and neighbors. If possible, a number of forms should be ordered at the same time and a reduction in price will be made.

In ordering, send for a dress form which is two sizes smaller than the actual bust measure.

WEREN'T NONE OB 'EM HIS'N

The following story comes from Arkansas, and is about a negro woman whose experience in court gave her a poor opinion of such institutions. She had been sued by her husband and the court awarded the man the divorce and the custody of her three children. The woman came down the court house steps talking to herself.

"Justice. Dat's what dey call justice! Dat no-count husban' o' mine, he git dis divorce; he git de house; he git de mule; he git mah three chillun, an' dey ain't none ob 'em his'ns."
